

Natalie Hicks is an architect with a passion for sustainable design and social equity. She received a Master of Architecture, Structures Option, and MBA from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. She was formerly the President of Chicago Women in Architecture and a member of Board of Directors of Illinois Green Alliance. She currently is a Project Architect at Wright Heerema Architects and serves as a member of the AIA Chicago Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion Roundtable. Natalie enjoys working closely with clients to solve problems and provide solutions through creative design.